

Notes and Memoranda

THE ROYAL INSTITUTION'S LIBRARY

The Managers of the Royal Institution wish it to be known that the Institution's Library is open for purposes of study to persons who are not Members of the Institution. Admission to the Library is by means of Reader's Tickets, for which no charge is made. Holders of such tickets may use the Library for reference purposes only; they are not entitled to borrow books.

Applications for Reader's Tickets should be made on a form obtainable from the secretary. Applicants, who must be over eighteen years of age, will need to be sponsored by a responsible person to whom he is personally known. Full details are included on the form of application.

Information about the Library and its contents may be obtained from the Secretary or Librarian of the Royal Institution, 21 Albemarle Street, London, W.1.
